All you brothers on the hill, put down your tools and make them still.
oh brothers, follow me home.
Lead your horses down the track, let them rest their weary backs.
oh brothers. follow me home.
 oh brothers, follow me home.
 oh brothers, follow me home.

All you sisters in the valley, leave the fields, now don't you dally.
oh sisters, follow me home.
Up the lane to the house you'll come, now your work is nearly done oh sisters, follow me home. etc

All you children in the hay, you can play another day oh children, follow me home.
wash your hands, take off your shoes, you look so tired your getting the blues oh children, follow me home. etc

Here comes father back from town, with his news to share around oh father, follow me home.
tell us about where you have been, tell us about the people you've seen oh father, follow me home. etc

The soups on the table and bread is hot, supper is ready if you want it or not oh mother, follow me home.
The fire's in the hearth and its burning bright, it'll keep us warm right through the night.
oh mother, follow me home. etc

Look to the west, where the sun burns red, we'll soon be ready for our beds.
oh darling, follow me home.
Watch the stars come out so clear, I can face morn if you are near.
oh darling, follow me home. etc
